Atrion Networking Corporation Appoints New Chief Operations Officer

Atrion's Michelle Pope will drive the Company's service delivery and Ultimate Client Experience philosophy.

Warwick, R.I. – Feb. 5, 2010 – Atrion Networking Corporation, a leading provider of Information Technology and managed services, today announces it has promoted Michelle Pope to the role of Chief Operations Officer. As COO, Michelle will be responsible for driving Atrion's service delivery process and ensuring its alignment with the Company's Ultimate Client Experience philosophy.

In her new role, Michelle will lead Atrion in continuing to understand the needs of its clients and developing the organizational and cultural support services required to meet those needs effectively and efficiently. Michelle will also work with Atrion's leadership team to drive its strategic business initiatives, including implementing a leaner business structure as well as strengthening its Always On philosophy approach and offerings.

"It is with great pleasure that I congratulate Michelle Pope in her promotion to the position of Chief Operations Officer," said Tim Hebert, Atrion's CEO. "Throughout her career at Atrion, Michelle has excelled both personally and professionally, seizing the opportunities that appear before her without hesitation and always with great success. She has constantly looked for ways to improve herself as well as positively impact the lives of those around her, including her peers and many of Atrion's clients. With her promotion to COO, Michelle will lead Atrion in providing its clients with the highest level of service and the Ultimate Client Experience."

"I am proud to accept the position and responsibilities of COO for Atrion. Utilizing our core values, Ultimate Client Experience philosophy and recent improvements to our own infrastructure, Atrion will continue to enable our clients, optimize our service offerings and client experience and grow as an organization and an industry leader."

Michelle began her career with Atrion in 2001, excelling in technical and leadership positions including application engineering, project management and, most recently, Director of Support Services.
